FRESHMAN SURVIVAL GUIDE

Karen Vennum, Feature Editor

College is, without a doubt, an exciting, new experience for those just beginning the journey. Recently, I asked several upperclassman what advice they had for new freshman. So freshman, listen and learn...here is what your upperclassmen had to say:

About the food:

"Stay away from the shepherd's pie"-
Ryon Kaminski

"Don't eat ice cream every day, you will gain the freshman fifteen!"- Susan Dennis

"Don't worry, twenty-five extra pound won't show!"- Phillip Allred

"Make friends with the cafeteria staff, especially the ID checkers."- Justin McDonald

"Bring your ID to dinner!"- David Darsey

"Buy your winter clothes one size bigger- you will need it."- Syndi Appleby

About the College Experience:

"Your college experience is what you make it."- Shelly Cook

"If you are unsure of your major, take all Gen. Ed. classes your first year, to avoid the five year plan."- Andrew Mc Vey

"Go to night court at least once." -
Heather Bridges

"Go downtown a lot."- Nicki Goforth

"Get involved."- Rhea Woods

"Don't take this year for granted, it will go by fast."- Stephanie Niece

About Love:

"Don't have a serious boyfriend until you are at least a junior."- Nicki Goforth

"Don't get engaged your first week here"- Rhea Woods

"Don't get your Mrs. degree your freshman year."- Shaun Jones

"Don't date Brad Rucker."- 36 anonymous ladies

"Avoid Fort Campbell at all costs."- 152 anonymous ladies

Quote of the Week:

"Never be afraid to try something new. Remember, amateurs built the ark. Professionals built the Titanic."

Georgia, Tennessee Dorms Welcome New RDs

Sarah Miller- Georgia

Megan Hanks

You've seen her limbo, you've seen her hula-hoop- now meet Georgia Dorm's new Resident Director, Sarah Jo Miller. Sarah is from the bluegrass state of Kentucky. She graduated from Asbury college last year with a bachelor's degree in media communications. Sarah plans to further her education here at Trevecca by earning her master's degree in counseling. She found out about the opportunity to come to TNU from a resident director at Asbury. Last year, Sarah was the homecoming queen at Asbury as well as the freshman class sponsor. She chose her favorite Bible verse for the class motto last year, John 15:5, "I am the Vine, and you are the branches. Those who abide in me and Me in them bear much fruit, because apart from Me you can do nothing."

Sarah was born on April 15, 1978, in McDaniels, Kentucky, and she grew up there on a farm with her two oldest brothers. Her parents still live on the farm, where they have about twenty horses. Sarah's car is named Miss Kitty, a feisty little green Mitsubishi that lives behind Tennessee Hall. Sarah collects Pez dispensers; her favorite is Wonder Woman because it reminds her of herself. Her favorite food is fried chicken and mashed potatoes, and her favorite actor is James Stewart. Sarah has already displayed great school spirit, and will continue to spread that spirit as the sponsor of the cheerleading squad this year. She also hopes to use Georgia Hall's new theme of "Unity" to help bring the Georgia girls and herself closer to Christ.

Michelle Choate- Tennessee

Jessica Tyler

Originally from Oklahoma, Michelle Coate gets a double dose of Trevecca as she tackles the jobs of RD and coach. Outgoing and friendly, it is no wonder that this former teacher has quickly found her niche here in Trojan Town.

Michelle graduated in 1993 from Oklahoma Baptist College with a degree in Family Development. She went back and was certified to teach, where she spent the past year. She found out about TNU through head softball coach Angela Sullivan, who asked her to join her as assistant coach. There is one downside to her new home-- she will have to find a different vacation spot, as Nashville was her favorite place to visit.

Her favorite movie is "A League of Their Own" and her favorite color is green. She fondly calls her Mazda 626 "Eugene, Jr." and her favorite place to dine is Las Palmas--she loves Mexican food.

Michelle has a goal of unity for her dorm. Their theme for the year is "Catch the Vision, hasten toward the goal." She hopes that Tennessee dorm will find unity and sisterhood in Christ this year.

Movie Review:
Stir of Echoes

Kerri Roscoe

Tom Hanks was in "That Thing You Do" with Liv Tyler, who was in "Armageddon" with Ben Affleck, who was in "Forces of Nature" with Sandra Bullock, who was in "Practical Magic" with Nicole Kidman, who was in "To Die For" with Illeana Douglas, who was in "Stir of Echoes" with Kevin Bacon.

Admit it, you have all tried that game, linking your favorite actor through other actors and movies to Kevin Bacon. Come on, the man is in almost every movie imaginable...or so it seems at times. At any rate, Bacon stars in "Stir of Echoes" as quite an ordinary man, living with his wife and five-year-old son. His wacky sister-in-law, played by Illeana Douglas, hypnotizes him one night at a party, and this is where all his troubles begin. He is tuned into a supernatural world where inexplicable events occur. This deeply disturbs his wife, but not his son, who himself is no stranger to this world. Bacon is faced with a task, but one that he cannot fully understand or piece together until everything is on the line, including his life.

This movie is no "Sixth Sense," but it has its moments. There are some creepy parts and the actors do a good job of bringing it all together. I had been looking forward to seeing this movie, and I was not disappointed.

Album Review: No Turning Back

Michele Lawson

This summer, Out of Eden released a new CD entitled "No Turning Back." This is their third CD, and in my opinion, the best yet. The CD is filled with upbeat music that serves to honor God. Lisa (producer and lyricist) says that "No Turning Back represents our loves. We have a heart for our peers and a desire to tell our generation that you don't have to lose yourself in today's impressionable society." The sisters Lisa, Andrea, and Danielle have a harmonic blend that is like no other, combining rap and pop music to form a dynamite collection of songs.

Movie Review:
Stigmata

Kerri Roscoe

Stigmata-a manifestation of the wounds that Christ suffered during His crucifixion. In history it has been priests and highly religious men such as Saint Francis of Assisi that have suffered from stigmata, but in this movie it is 23-year-old athiest Frankie Page, played by Patricia Arquette. Her mother is vacationing in a Third World country and buys her rosary beads that (unbeknownst to her) were stolen off of a newly deceased priest. Frankie's life immediately begins to change after recieving the beads, as she experiences the suffering of Christ through stigmata. Gabriel Byrne plays a priest/scientist who is sent to investigate this manifestation, and who introduces the concept to Frankie. Together they try to overcome the powerful stigmata before it destroys the girl.

Many are skeptical about this movie, or unsure if they should see it because of possible "sacriligious" elements. The Catholic Church is the direct target and villian of the movie, so it is understandable why they would shun it. However, the message behind it is a good one-the church is not a building, but is within the individual. Some parts of the movie are entirely repulsive, but it will definitely generate some discussion. I highly recommend it, and a strong stomach would be a plus.

CATWALK

Hello Trevecca and welcome to another post-Labor Day season of fashion and fun! I'm one of three anonymous Catwalk writers this year, serving the Trevecca Community so that even the most clueless of freshman can adjust their wardrobe until they aren't carbon copies of Dawson and Felicity. And while we're talking about the freshmen, let me be the first (obviously no one else has told you) about the infamous Trevecca dress code. Girls (guys, skip down to section two), let me get heart to heart and break it down here: 1) capris- they're great for that pre-4:30 look, but let's keep them to a minimum. What are you going to do when they go out of style- make cut-offs? 2) white pants- if you're going to wear white underwear under white pants, why don't you go ahead and add purple stripes for school spirit? Try flesh colored undies and leave some mystery for the rest of us; 3) FRESHMAN! You girls with four 7:30's a week and still wear skirts every other day--we don't expect you to look like you're on PR. Give yourselves a break!

Guys: Although most of you have contributed to the Benson Hall image of khakis and a polo, some of you have continued to amaze me with the creativity of Adidas pants and TNT shirts. Let's remember to remove our hats in chapel, and also that with every sweaty soccer shirt in the cafeteria comes the billions of germs that none of you have time to rinse off. At least you all quarantine yourselves at that middle window table, so the rest of us don't have to share a napkin basket with you.

As always with our advice, take it or leave it, but leave the turtlenecks at home.

Sincerely,
Peter, Paul, and Mary

Words from the Prez

It is once again time to hear from that man who sits in his office all day long and does nothing. Well, actually he likes to play with the paper clips and rubber bands. Okay, if you haven't guessed, it's Arp. I just want to comment on the ever-increasing nature-like atmosphere of our campus. The natural springs running over natural rocks are absolutely breathtaking. I look down from my office window and wonder at how beautiful creation is. And then there is the abundant colony of new and interesting bacteria being harvested in Benson Dorm. This touch makes me feel that Trevecca is truly in touch with nature. The fact that I live in a parasitic incubation chamber is ever so comforting. And the natural greenery that surrounds us as we are enjoying our Apple Dining room cuisine. The delightful aroma of those freshly budding trees just seems to add to the palatable flavor provided by Pioneer Food Service. All in all I would say that TNU is becoming very environmentally conscious. You know that nature is first priority when Johnson Third Floor girls are rumored to still feel free to be all-natural. I am just glad to be part of a campus that truly puts nature first.

Respectfully submitted....
